Free Barbeque Planned for Democrat Picnic

U. S. Senator McAdoo and Democratic Gubernatorial Candidates to be Speakers

What is likely to be the greatest gathering of Democrats ever seen in Contra Costa County is scheduled to take place at Alvarado Park in Richmond on August 14, Sunday week, when the Contra Costa County Democratic Club No. 1 holds it annual picnic.

United States Senator Wm. G. McAdoo is expected to the speaker. (Senator McAdoo and Assemblyman Harold F. Sawallisch being the sole candidates endorsed 100 per cent by the club). And it is also expected that one or more, perhaps several, of the gubernatorial candidates may appear and be on the speaker's platform. (The club is neutral on the governor's race, to date—that is, neutral as long as a Democratic governor is elected!)

A free barbecue has been voted by the club, and there will be races and games and dancing and music and singing to one's heart's content.

Joseph Baker is president of the club; and County Committeeman John R. Healy is the general chairman.

The general public is invited.

LABOR LEAGUE PICKS CANDIDATES

Fifty-two delegates representing 22 organizations affiliated with the Contra Costa county branch of labor's non-partisan league voted endorsements of a large number of candidates for political offices, at a septic meeting in Martinez this week. Almost without exception, those endorsed were democrats.

Candidates endorsed are:

Culbert Olsen, for governor.

Ellis Patterson, lieutenant-governor.

William Mosley Jones, attorney general.

Leland Costello, congressman.

Anthony Regglardo, sheriff.

Merrick W. Creagh, district attorney.

Harold Sawallisch, assemblyman.

Thomas D. Johnston, superior judge.

S. S. Ripley, tax collector.

Harry D. Chapman, surveyor.

William Youngberg, superintendent of schools.

Dan Hurley, public administrator.

Endorsements were upon unanimous ballots, accordini to President Walter Valdi.

It was decided to withhold endorsements of a candidate for supervisor of the third district until after the primary election, and the executive board was instructed to investigate further the candidates for recorder and make a recommendation at the next meeting of the league.

Endorsement of a candidate for coroner was deferred until the executive board can interview one aspirant who has not appeared before it. The league will endorse candidates for other offices on August 7. The candidates will be questioned by executive committee members before the meeting.

Valdi said the league will make an active campaign for endorsed candidates.

GALILEO CLUB BARBECUE ON AUGUST 21

On Sunday, August 21, the Richmond Galileo Club, a society composed of representative Italian-Americans, citizens of Richmond and vicinity, are giving a public barbecue and entertainment at the club's playgrounds located at South 23rd street and Virginia avenue in Richmond.

A general admission of 45 cents will be charged.

County Committee Slate Endorsed

NO. 1 CLUB MAKES ITS COMMITTEE SELECTIONS

Last Monday night at the meting of the Democratic Club No. 1, the following slate of candidates for the county central committee was endorsed and the club will actively campaign for the following nine, and those candidates only:

Leonard J. Adams; Joseph Baker; Angelo Bertolli; Harry R. Burt; John F. Healy, Thomas Kenny; Carl Richofsky; John C. Sindicich, Jr.,; and Henry S. Sprecker.

As the campaign develops the club will give the reasons why these men should be elected.

On Saturday August 27th at Memorial Hall in Richmond, the Young Democrats will give another of their big dances. Keep the date in mind.

OLSON REPORTS FAVORABLE

Senator Culbert L. Olson today closed a four-day campaign drive through the Central Valley with the prospect of a commanding lead in the Democratic primary. A non-partisan poll conducted by the Oakdale Enterprise in the upper San Joaquin area gave the following tabulation in the Gubernatorial race: Olson, 102; Haight, 40; Murphy, 27; O'Connor, 22; Dockweiler, 19; Neblett, 1; Legg, 1. On his first tour of the valley district, Senator Olson fired four radio broadsides, one of them on a state-wide network, and made personal appearances on the platform at Bakersfield, Tulare, Visalia, Kingsburg, Madera, Fresno, Merced, Modesto, Sonora, Jamestown, Oakdale, Riverbank and Turlock.

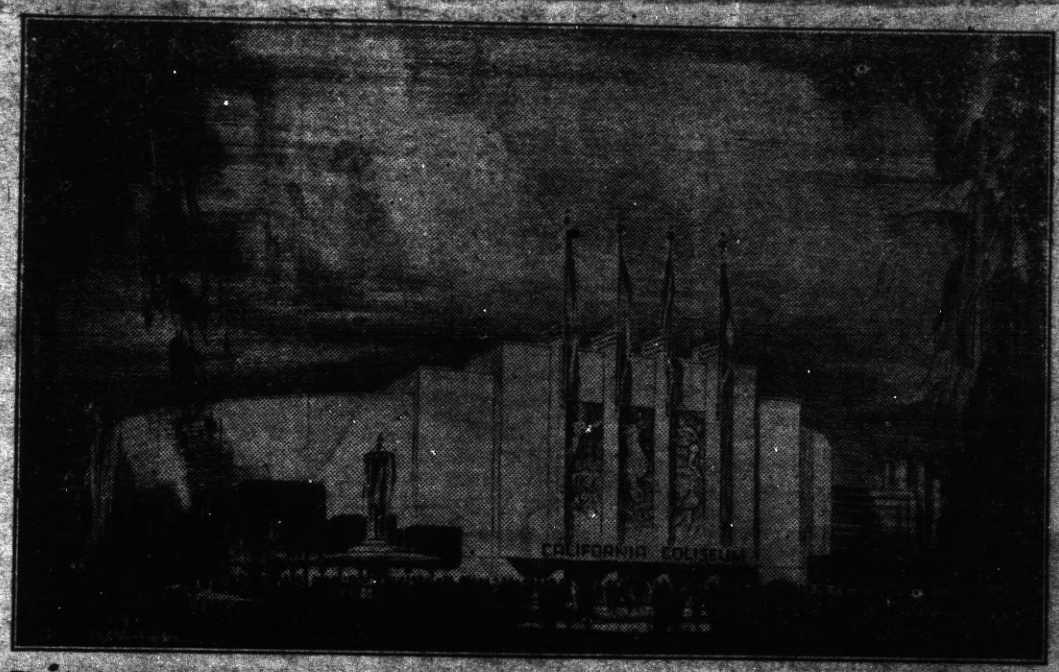
D. A. SAYS COUNTY IS FREE OF FRAUDULENT RELIEF CLAIMS

District Attorney Francis P. Healey and the Social Service department today had announced that Contra Costa county is free of fraudulent claims for state and county relief.

During the past four years militant action by the district attorney's office resulted in the seizure of a number of properties or savings of persons who were fraudulently receiving relief checks. The county in one case seized $1159 in a bank account belonging to a recipient of financial aid.

Healey stated, "The old age pension and social security are designed to help persons in need. My staff and the Social Service department will do all we can to protect the interests of these people."

EXPOSITION LIVESTOCK COLISEUM



The above represents the first detailed view of the huge building to be erected on Treasure Island by the California State Commission, for the purpose of housing and displaying livestock shows and athletic and sporting events. Covering an average city block in area, the Coliseum will comfortably seat 8500 spectators. To the left, nearby, will be built one of the largest barns in the world, with facilities for 600 box stalls. These buildings will be the home of some of the fair's outstanding attractions.

Additional facts of interest in connection with the mammoth coliseum and livestock pavilion to be erected on Treasure Island by the California State Commission are today disclosed through a report from Commission headquarters.

As the accompanying picture—the first one available showing in detail the construction of the entire structure—discloses, the building is not only huge in proportions but also attractive and decorative.

Confronted with the problem of providing housing accommodations for thousands of blooded horses, cattle, sheep and swine, as well as dog, cat and poultry shows, the Commission and Exposition authorities have approved the design submitted above, plans for which were prepared by Sam Heiman, architect of San Francisco.

In addition to adequate facilities for the exhibition of livestock, it was essential that quarters be provided for important athletic and sporting events.

E. J. Fjeldsted, Chief of the Livestock Show for the Golden Gate International Exposition today announces that the dimensions of the display ring of the Coliseum—100 feet by 165 feet—will be greater than those of the famous Madison Square Garden arena in New York City.

Mr. Fjeldsted also states that to date 13 international livestock shows have been definitely contracted for the Exposition, with exhibits assured from every state in the Union, Canada, and all foreign wool producing countries. Negotiations now under way indicate that within two weeks two of the most important of America's dairy shows will be definitely signed up also.

Leading breeders of California, throughout the Eleven Western States and nation-wide express decided gratification that the State of California and the Golden Gate International Exposition are providing so thoroughly for the best interests of this most important industry.

C.I.O. Proposes a Purge

MORE than 40 members of congress are marked for C. I. O. opposition in the fall elections by a blacklist formulated by John L. Lewis and given out by E. L. Oliver, executive vice president of Labor's Non-Partisan league, the political agency of the Committee for Industrial Organization. Oliver said the opposition to those named was based chiefly on their stand on the wage-hour bill. He indicated it merely was a coincidence that almost without exception those marked for defeat also fought Mr. Roosevelt's government reorganization and Supreme court packing bills.

John L. Lewis

Ten of the fourteen members of the house rules committee, which blocked consideration of the wage-hour measure for many months, were named on the blacklist. Chairman John J. O'Connor was not included but Oliver said he was not in favor with the league.

Among the Democratic rules committee members marked for opposition were Rep. E. E. Cox of Georgia, opponent of administration policies in the house; Rep. Howard W. Smith of Virginia, against whom James Roosevelt and Thomas G. (Tommy the Cork) Corcoran have put up a young radical, William E. Dodd Jr.; and Rep. Lawrence Lewis of Colorado, chairman of the Democratic congressional campaign committee.

The other Democratic members marked for the purge were Representatives William J. Driver of Arkansas; J. Bayard Clark of North Carolina and Martin Dies of Texas. All four Republican committee members were on the blacklist. They are Joseph W. Martin of Massachusetts; Carl E. Mapes of Michigan; J. Will Taylor of Tennessee; and Donald H. McLean of New Jersey.

Included in the Lewis blacklist are Senators Tydings of Maryland, Adams of Colorado and Lonergan of Connecticut.

Among the Democratic representatives marked for opposition are Hatton W. Sumners of Texas, A. P. Lamneck of Ohio, Leo Kocialkowski of Illinois, R. L. Doughton of North Carolina, H. B. Steagall of Alabama, C. F. Lea of California, Fred Cummings of Colorado, C. I. White of Idaho, R. L. De Rouen of Louisiana, John Rankin and Will Whittington of Mississippi, H. B. Coffee of Nebraska, Sam McReynolds of Tennessee, J. I. Mansfield, Fritz Lanahan and M. H. West of Texas, S. O. Bland of Virginia and Joe Smith of West Virginia.

'Sneak' Flight Over Ocean

DOUGLAS P. CORRIGAN, a young airplane motor expert from California, couldn't get permission from the air commerce bureau to fly across the Atlantic, so he started off secretly from Floyd Bennett field, New York, and landed at Baldonnel, Ireland, 28 hours and 13 minutes later.

The remarkable feature of the flight was that it was made in a rickety old single-motored Curtiss Robin plane that was not equipped with navigation instruments, radio or the ordinary safety devices. Corrigan did not even carry a parachute.

Having neither flight permit, landing papers nor passport, Corrigan laughingly declared in Dublin that he had intended to fly back to California but set his magnetic compass wrong and flew in the opposite direction. His was the sixth west-east solo flight across the Atlantic. In the opposite direction only Mollison and Beryl Markham have been successful.

Veteran flyers said Corrigan's feat was accomplished against odds of 100 to 1. He himself told the people in Dublin "it was just dumb luck that I got here."

American Minister John Cudahy took care of the aviator at the legation. It was decided that the adventurer should return to this side by boat.

British Monarchs in Paris

KING GEORGE VI and Queen Elizabeth of England went to Paris for a state visit of four days, and this was regarded as a vitally important event politically. Apparently it was undertaken to let the dictator countries know that Great Britain and France would continue to stand firmly as allies.

Britain's foreign secretary, Viscount Halifax; the French premier, Edouard Daladier, and Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet held political talks to discuss the world situation during the visit.

Every precaution to insure the safety of the visiting monarchs was taken by the French, fully 100,000 police, reserve officers and soldiers being mobilized to look after them.

Queen Marie Dies

DOWAGER QUEEN MARIE of Rumania, who had been ill for a year, died at her summer residence at Bucharest, mourned by the entire nation. King Carol, her son, was at her bedside as she passed away. Marie was an English princess, granddaughter of Victoria, when she married Ferdinand, who ascended the Rumanian throne in 1914. She attained international prominence by her activities and led Rumania to enter the World war on the side of the allies. In 1926 Queen Marie made a spectacular five-weeks' tour of the United States.

Japan Cancels Olympics

JAPAN evidently thinks the war in China is not near its end. The Tokyo government has cancelled the Olympic games of 1940, dropping all plans to be the host of the world's athletes.

In Tokyo it was said the government's action was due to the cost of financing the games and to military leaders' opposition to a growth of nationalism among the Japanese people.

It was expected the international committee would meet soon to determine the next move. London and Helsingfors, Finland, were mentioned as possible sites for the 1940 games.

Wheat Allotment

H. R. TOLLEY, AAA administrator, announced a national wheat allotment for fall and spring planting of not more than 55,000,000 acres — the minimum allowable under the act.

H. R. Tolley

The action, which came as the result of the 967,000,000-bushel yield forecast for this year on a seeded acreage of 80,000,000, came in the form of an order signed by M. L. Wilson, acting secretary of agriculture.

Details to cover the state allotments on this 30 per cent reduction basis are expected to result in protests in winter wheat areas where the seeding will get under way this fall, despite the minimum loan of 59 to 60 cents a bushel announced by the AAA in hope that a sizable part of the 1938 crop will be kept on the farms.

"The acreage allotment provided for in the agricultural adjustment act of 1938 puts into effect one more phase of the general AAA wheat program," Tolley said. "Both this acreage allotment and the wheat loan are a part of the ever-normal granary program. Loans in years of surplus help farmers hold over their surplus for years of shortage. Acreage allotments keep the surplus within bounds and help maintain prices and income of farmers.

"This acreage allotment contemplates maintaining adequate supplies in this country for domestic consumption, for our usual share of the world export trade, and for adequate reserves equal to 30 per cent of a normal year's domestic consumption and exports."

The order placed the total available supply for the current marketing year at 1,147,000,000 bushels, and the "normal supply" level, as provided for in the farm act, at 866,000,000.

Insull Dies in Paris

SAMUEL INSULL, one-time chief of an American public utilities empire valued at many millions of dollars, fell dead in the subway in Paris, France. Mrs. Insull, the former Gladys Wallis of the stage, was there with him and she took the body to London for burial.

Insull came to the United States from England when twenty years of age. After working for a time with Thomas A. Edison he went to Chicago and began building up his great financial structure. In 1932 his personal fortune was estimated at $100,000,000 and he owned or controlled various big electric and gas companies. Then the depression came and Insull engaged in a struggle with eastern capitalists who sought possession of his properties. The great crash ensued in which the Insulls and thousands of others lost enormous sums. Insull fled to Europe and was indicted on mail fraud charges. He was arrested at Istanbul, Turkey and brought back for trial but was acquitted.

Despite his financial mistakes and misfortunes, Insull was admittedly one of the ablest organizers of public utilities the world has known. Much of the financing of the corporations in his control was accomplished through holding companies and investors for many years profited handsomely by his success. He was a patron of the arts and deeply interested in agriculture.

Wage-Hour Chief

WHILE in California President Roosevelt announced the appointment of Elmer F. Andrews, industrial commissioner of New York state, to be administrator of the new wage-hour law. This selection was a disappointment to the southerners, who had hoped a resident of their region would be named.

E.F. Andrews

Andrews, who is forty-eight years old, lives in Flushing with his wife and three children. Graduated from Rensselaer Polytechnic institute in 1915 as a civil engineer, he built railroads in Cuba and factories in New York, worked for compensation-rating groups, planned civic improvements for the Queensborough Chamber of Commerce, and piloted army planes during the World war. As industrial commissioner, he was largely responsible for New York's "Little Wagner Act," the state minimum wage law for women, extension of unemployment insurance and workmen's compensation. He opposed wage differentials in the federal wage bill, although this feature was enacted into law.

Primaries to Be Probed

SENATOR SHEPPARD'S senate campaign committee voted unanimously to investigate charges of misuse of federal and state funds in the Democratic primaries in Kentucky and Pennsylvania. The committee also disclosed that it has been conducting an inquiry into similar charges in Tennessee.

The social security board also has ordered an investigation in Kentucky into charges by Senator Barkley that state social security agents are playing politics with pension checks.

Van Nuys Nominated

OPPONENTS of Sen. Frederick Van Nuys of Indiana accepted defeat with wry faces. They had intended that he should be "purged" for his fights against New Deal measures, but realized his threatened independent candidacy would split the party in the state wide open, and also would injure the presidential aspirations of Paul V. McNutt. So Governor Townsend invited the senator to present his name to the state convention, and other candidates withdrew.

Van Nuys was then perfunctorily renominated without anyone saying a good thing about him.

New Air Board Meets

MEMBERS of the new Civil Aeronautics authority got together in Washington and prepared to take up their work. Edward J. Noble presided as chairman. Other members are: Harllee Branch, second assistant postmaster general, vice chairman; G. Grant Mason, Pan-American Airways official; Robert Hinckley, WPA director for far western states, and Oswald Ryan of Anderson, Ind., general counsel for the federal power commission.

Clinton M. Hester, assistant treasury general counsel, has been assigned the independent administrative position. He is responsible to the President. The board is responsible to congress.

Deficit to Be 4 Billions

IN REVISED budget estimates for the current fiscal year, given out in Washington, the President forecast a net federal deficit of $3,984,887,600, an increase of $2,525,639,500 over last year's deficit and $3,035,000,000 more than he had estimated in January for the 12 months ending next June 30.

The deficit, which will increase the gross public debt by $3,485,000,000, will be financed, the President indicated, by a reduction of $500,000,000 in the working balance of the treasury's general fund; by the use of $680,000,000 in special issues of government obligations and by $2,805,000,000 in new federal financing.

The gross deficit was estimated at $4,084,887,700, in which is included $100,000,000 for debt retirement.

The business slump, which grew sharper after Roosevelt submitted his budget estimates to congress last January, was blamed by him for the inaccuracies of his forecasts.

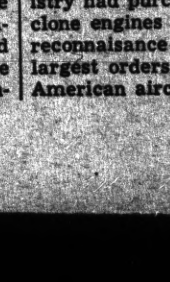
Canton Bombed Again

BOMBING of Canton, great South China port, was resumed by the Japanese airmen, and in three successive days hundreds of civilians were killed by the warplanes. Uncounted numbers were driven to abandon their homes.

In one of the boldest moves in the war, powerful Chinese guerilla contingents landed secretly on Namoa island, off Swatow. They claimed to have recaptured a considerable part of the island which had been taken by the Japanese.

Hughes' Great Flight

HOWARD HUGHES and his crew of four completed their remarkable flight around the world when they landed at Floyd Bennett airport, New York, 3 days, 19 hours and 17 minutes after starting from that place. They had covered 14,824 miles and made six stops for refueling — at Paris, Moscow, Omsk, Yakutsk, Fairbanks and Minneapolis.



Howard Hughes

They cut more than three days off the record made by Wiley Post in 1933, but Hughes said after landing that he still considered Post's solo flight was the most remarkable job of flying ever done.

On the hop across the Atlantic the time made by Lindbergh was nearly halved.

With Hughes, wealthy sportsman and aviator who financed and organized the flight, were Harry Connor and Thomas Thurlow, navigators; Richard Stoddart, radio operator, and Ed Lund, flight engineer.

Hughes himself was at the controls all the time, but said the robot pilot did all the flying except the takeoffs and landings. Much credit also was given the automatic navigator loaned by the army air corps.

Britain Buys Planes

SIR KINGSLEY WOOD, British minister for air, ordered 1,000 Spitfire fighting planes from Viscount Nuffield, leading automobile manufacturer who is building a $15,000,000 mass production aircraft plant at Birmingham.

The Curtiss-Wright and Wright Aeronautical corporations announced in New York the British air ministry had purchased 400 Wright Cyclone engines to be installed in 200 reconnaisance planes—one of the largest orders ever placed with an American aircraft concern.

Sawallisch Endorsed

The candidacy of Harold F. Sawallisch for re-election to the State Assembly, has been endorsed by the Plumbers and Steam Fitters Local, Union No. 151, according to word received from Albin L. Peterson, secretary of the union.

TESTIMONIAL

Honorable Harold F. Sawallisch.
American Trust Building,
Richmond, Calif.
Dear Mr. Sawallisch:

I noticed recently in one of our local papers that you were again a candidate for election to the Assembly from the district which you so ably represented in the last Legislature.

I am taking this means of wishing you well in your campaign because I have in mind the fact that as chairman of the important Insurance Committee in the Assembly you were always courteous and helpful to me as the legislative representative of the Industrial Accident Commission.

As you know, a great majority of the bills which proposed to amend the Workmen's Compensation Insurance and Safety Laws of California were assigned to that committee, and your fairness and intelligence in presiding over this committee, in my opinion, did much to preserve the rights of the working men and women of California.

With kindest personal regards and wishing you continued success, I am

continued in that employment until the World War when he left to serve in the Tank Corps of the United States Army. After the war he started a small business in Richmond and has been so engaged until the present except for two years' service of the State of California as Sales Tax Investigator.

Since the war he has acted for many years as service officer in veteran organizations and all who applied for help were assured that he would do his utmost to obtain the aid they needed, often at considerable trouble and expense to himself. From this service to veterans and their families, others in need of help began to seek his assistance, which was as freely given to them, so that he is known throughout Richmond and the whole county as a true and loyal friend of the underprivileged and discouraged.

In 1933, Mr. Ripley was elected to the Richmond City Council, of which he is still a member, as an independent small business man pledged to represent all sections of citizens upon matters of import in City government. He has fulfilled these pledges and has always worked to the end that all public business should be fair, honest and open.

Now Mr. Ripley hopes to extend the scope of his public servie to the county and pledges himself to the same independence in behalf of the interests of the people as he has shown in City affairs, with courtesy to all taxpayers alike, small and great and such efficient conduct of office as is compatible with the highest ideals of honest and reliable public service.

A Noted March

When Washington made that famous march southward in 1781, from New York to confront Cornwallis at Yorktown, his army consisted of 2,000 Continentals and 4,000 Frenchmen, and none save Washington and the French commander, Rochembeau, knew when they started out where they were going.

★ Children of Stars
★ A Break for Nancy
★ Goodman's Cornetist

—By Virginia Vale—

SOME day when you youngsters are grown up, and see by the papers that Ellen Powell is going places with this or that young man, you'll know how the old-timers feel when they read that Sue Vidor has been going about with Buddy Armstrong.

You'll probably say, "Why I remember when that girl was born—way back in 1938! Her mother was a well-known movie star, Joan Blondell, and her father was a movie star, too—Dick Powell, and a master of ceremonies on the radio, too. But, of course, you don't see them in pictures now."

And it seems like yesterday that Sue Vidor was playing that tiny little piano, and her handsome young parents were standing there, smiling at her. Her mother was a famed movie actress — Florence Vidor, who retired to marry Jascha Heifetz, the violinist. Sue's father is King Vidor, the director.

Nancy Kelly, aged seventeen, has been booked to play the heroine in "Splinter Fleet," and a lot of people in Hollywood are asking who she is and where she comes from and why she should be given so important a role in such an expensive picture. But at seventeen Nancy is a veteran who rates important assignments. She acted in the movies made in the East as a child, but gave it up 10 years ago because she had reached the awkward age, and devoted herself to radio. She was going strong a year ago when she got the role of Gertrude Lawrence's daughter in "Susan and God," a successful play that was one of the New York theaters' big hits this year. Nancy was a hit, too, Darryl Zanuck saw her performance and bought her run-of-the-play contract, so now she's back in the movies again.

You can't tell these days, where a swing musician will bob up. When Benny Goodman and his band were playing an engagement in Texas last year everybody for miles around who liked swing music came to dance. During the intermission a young man with a cornet in his hand came to Goodman and asked to play for him.

"Buddy," said Goodman when he had finished, "Whatever your name is, you can join my band. By the way, where did you learn to put a horn through its paces?"

"I'm a member of the Salvation Army band," replied Henry James, who's been a member of Goodman's gang ever since.

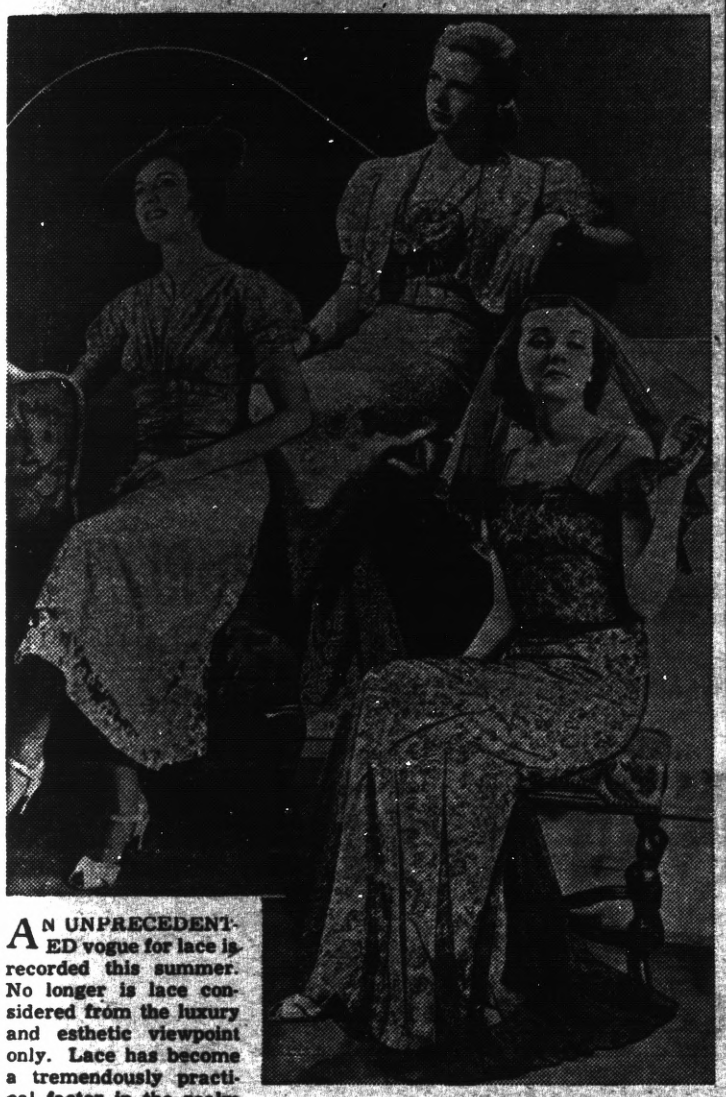
More Lace This Summer Than Ever

By CHERIE NICHOLAS



AN UNPRECEDENTED vogue for lace is recorded this summer. No longer is lace considered from the luxury and esthetic viewpoint only. Lace has become a tremendously practical factor in the realm of apparel wearable for all occasions. Lace has come into its own in a big way, so much so that designers are thinking in terms of lace as they never thought before.

So lace-conscious have we become, women of keen judgment are acquiring entire wardrobes that are for the most part fashioned of lace. This is especially true with those who travel, for, put to the test, lace stands up under the stress and strain of packing and unpacking, in fact of serving for general wear as well as any other fabric. Of course, there are laces and laces and it behooves the woman who would be well-dressed to choose the right lace for the right occasion.

You can get laces that you can scarcely identify as lace, so fabric-like is their mesh. They tailor as perfectly as cloth and carry a sophisticated air about them. As for service you'll be delighted with their practical wearableness. Then there are the handsome, washable cotton and linen laces that tailor so smartly in simple daytime dresses you will be wanting above all else, at least one of these practical gowns. Perhaps we would be better expressing the idea to insist that you invest in several. They will carry you through most any social crisis.

So far we have been talking of lace from the practical standpoint. When it comes to reviewing the triumphs of lace from the esthetic side of the question we think the lovely evening ensemble to the right in the illustration tells the story more eloquently than any word-picture could do. This exquisite creation is of bottle green Chantilly lace, so delicately meshed it is like filmiest cobweb structure. A water green foundation with bands of crepe in rainbow colorings at the hem and bodice top of this slip reflect the spirit of joyous summer. The evening veil which has become a favorite headdress for formal occasion is of bottle green net with appliqued motifs of the lace.

A lace dinner and evening dress, such as is centered in the group, is almost indispensable in any woman's wardrobe. The short rounded bolero of matching lace, the full short sleeves as well as the easy fullness of the skirt are all features that make this dress distinctive and correct for both dinner and dancing. It comes in delectable colors in a new pattern of angel skin lace.

You will be wanting an afternoon dress of lace. A very apt model is shown to the left. Pale blue Chantilly lace fashions it. Its styling gives a particularly interesting interpretation of the draped bodice treatment that terminates in a wide molded corselet-girdle line. The hat is a Toya straw.

Lace costume suits, especially in jacket types, in navy, dusty pink, or various blues are outselling other sheer media this season. The jacket may go to extremes, varying from bolero to full length coat, but a jacket there must be with every dress for practical daytime wear. In many instances the lace jacket suit is enhanced with ribbon-bound edges. Frog fastenings made of tubular ribbon cording add a touch of distinction.

HOW to SEW

By RUTH WYETH SPEARS

IT WAS a great day on an upstate New York farm more than a half century ago. The biggest pumpkins, the finest apples and the sleekest live stock were being loaded to take to the Fair. Grandmother announced that she was taking her silk crazy patchwork quilt. The family disapproved. The quilt glowed with the richest taffetas and satins of

"best" dresses of those they knew and loved. The whole neighborhood marveled over the variety of embroidery stitches and the artistry of the needlework. Yet, they all agreed it was not the sort of thing to take.

All that winter the red ribbons and blue ribbons, won by prize pumpkins and apples and farm animals adorned the mantel shelf. But Grandmother, placidly stitching away in her rocking chair, had tucked away in the pocket of her voluminous skirt, the only cash prize that anyone brought home from the Fair. Her crazy patch quilt is still a thing of beauty and a center of interest. It is perfectly at home in a modern living room today. Here is a corner of it and the leaflet offered below tells you just how to make this kind of quilt and gives detailed instructions for dozens of stitches and combinations of stitches to be used for embroidering crazy patchwork.

NOTE: If you wish to use these weekly articles for reference paste them in a scrapbook, as they are not included in either Sewing Book No. 1 or 2. Book 1, Sewing for the Home Decorator, covers curtains, slipcovers, dressing tables; Book 2 illustrates 90 embroidery stitches with numerous applications; doll clothes and gift items. Order by number, enclosing 25 cents for each book desired. If you order both books, leaflet on making crazy quilts will be included free. For leaflet only send 5 cents in stamps to cover cost and mailing. Address: Mrs. Spears, 210 S. Desplaines St., Chicago, Ill.

Age Begins With Baptism

Hungarian law decrees that a person's age begins with baptism. Consequently, when a forty-year-old woman was tried in Presburg for receiving stolen goods, the court had to acquit her, notes a writer in Collier's Weekly, although she was admittedly guilty, upon her plea and proof that, as her baptism had taken place only six months before the trial, she was a "legal infant."

Early Silver Highly Ornamented

The Eighteenth century was a domestic period in England and the silversmiths turned their attention especially to articles for the home. Every imaginable article both large and small was made. Many of these, according to a writer in the Los Angeles Times, permitted the most elaborate ornamentation in which the silversmiths indulged in their fancy. Tea, coffee, and chocolate had now become established in the social life of the nation, and the silversmiths profited thereby. The first teapot is said to have been made during the reign of Queen Anne.

UNEMPLOYMENT C[illegible]S HELP BUSINESS

Unemployment compensation checks in Richmond are finding their way into the hands of the groceryman, the department stores, the landlord, and a dozen other classifications of business enterprises here.

This announcement was made yesterday by Arthur A. Hall, manager of the Richmond office of the State Department of Employment, through which claims for unemployment compensation are made.

Mr. Hall said that a total of $230,344.21 in actual cash has been distributed to claimants here up to July 1, in 23,174 unemployment compensation checks. During the month of June, he said, claimants in this county received 5304 checks totaling $32,178.53.

"But the mere fact this money is coming into the community doesn't mean much," said Arthur A. Hall, "unless there is a general idea of what's being done with it.

"A survey of several thousand checks made in Sacramento revealed this week that the vast majority of checks received here had been cashed by banks and food stores.

"Other business establishments in which claimants cashed their checks, indicating that at least a portion of the funds had been spent in those establishments, included butcher shops, clothing stores, department stores, service stations, garages, drug stores, hotels and apartments, loan establishments, dairies, insurance companies, ice plants, express companies, and a dozen other miscellaneous establishments."

Mr. Hall pointed out that up to June 30, a total of 1,035,928 unemployment compensation checks had been written, representing $9,890,497.61. During June alone, the department distributed 271,343 checks to claimants at the rate of $2,558,077.32. It is expected that the month of July will show at the close an even greater number of compensation checks distributed.

With premiums totaling close to $23,000, Secretary-Manager Robert Muenier revealed that the four great classes of beef cattle, Hereford, Shorthorn, Aberdeen-Angus and Milking-shorthorn, will split interest with the four great dairy breeds, Holstein-Friesian, Jersey, Guernsey and Ayrshires.

California's bovine population, according to latest reports of George A. Scott, agricultural statistician, is 2,278,000 head. Of these 667,000 are dairy cows. The San Joaquin valley claims the greatest number of dairy cattle while the northern range counties lead in beef cattle.

Entries in these classes will close August 15 and many new rules and notices are being mailed to exhibitors and breeders.

LeRoy Daniels Runs for Constable of Richmond

LeRoy Daniels, a resident and property owner in Richmond and former licensed officer in the U. S. merchant marine, has announced his candidacy for the office of constable of the fifteenth township, which comprises the City of Richmond.

Mr. Daniels is a man of family, his wife being the former Dolores Sindicich, a resident of Richmond for many years and a graduate nurse of Merritt hospital. He is chancellor commander of Richmond Lodge No. 13, Knights of Pythias, and an active member of the Grant School Dad's Club. He is 32 years of age and a member of the International Brotherhood of Boilermakers and Iron Shipbuilders of America.

Mr. Daniels is a cousin of Josephus Daniels, U. S. ambassador to Mexico. In announcing his candidacy, Mr. Daniels stated:

"It is my sincere desire that I be given an opportunity to serve the people of the City of Richmond as their constable. I feel that I am well fitted for the position, both by education and experience; and I assure the people of Richmond that if they elect me to such office, I will do everything in my power to administer the duties of the office in a businesslike and efficient manner."

Mr. Daniels has received the endorsement of the Contra Costa County Central Trades and Labor Council for the post as constable.

Progress Happy to Present News Of Aspirants for Public Office

As the campaign continues until the primary election is held on August 30th 1938, the RICHMOND PROGRESS wishes to thank those candidates who have the sincere regard for readers of our newspaper to publish their announcements and campaign news with us.

Whatever may be said for the candidates whose names and pictures and write-ups appear in the PROGRESS they all have one thing in common and that is an honest and sincere appreciation of the part the local newspaper plays in the life and affairs of the city- county, state, and nation.

For this reason we bespeak for each and every one your earnest consideration of the recital of their qualifications.

For our part we will try to be fair. Obviously, when there is more than one aspirant for the same office, like yourselves, we can vote only for one.

Nevertheless they are all good fellows or their ads would not be in this paper. And we sincerely hope for a good, clean, fair race in all contests..

May the best man win; and we will all shake hands, winners and losers after the election, and go forward in the hope and expectation of good government.

RE-ELECT

FRANCIS P. HEALEY
Candidate for
DISTRICT ATTORNEY
Contra Costa County

Francis P. Healey, district attorney of Contra Costa county. Born in Crockett, raised in Contra Costa county, graduate of St. Mary's college, practicing attorney in Richmnd for several years.

Prior to entering practice, Mr. Healey was employed as county traffic officer. He became a candidate for office of D. A. four years ago at solicitation of a number of taxpayers throughout the county who were interested in economical and efficient operation of D. A. office.

In the past four years he cut the operating expenses of his office on an average of $10,321 per year. This was in spite of the fact that all county employees got restoration of previous voluntary wage reductions in 1936. He added two deputies, too.

On the record also; seventy-nine per cent of the persons who came before the superior court during the past four years on criminal offenses pleaded guilty. This saved plenty of dough. Of the rest, he convicted 18, or rather the juries did. Insufficient evidence, when cases should never have come to trial or development later brought to light information not known at time of indictment, cause release of 50 persons. Only 11 were acquitted.

One of the outstanding cases involving the county was the American Toll Bridge case. The county already had received $135,176.94 from the bridge outfit, with $85,855.55 still due. You know the history: Carquinez and Antioch bridges owed the money to Contra Costa, Solano and Sacramento counties. It represents two per cent of the gross receips of Carquinez and Antioch bridges as provided for in the franchise given the company by the boards of supervisors.

The grooms father and mother and other relatives of Monterey were the only guests.

DR. ABBOTT FOR CORONER

The Progress is happy to bring the news to our readers this week that our friend and subscriber, Dr. C. L. Abbott has consented to become a candidate for re-election to his present post of county coroner in the elections to be held this year.

Point Richmond has been the home of many a distinguished citizen. We know of none who has been accorded the universal friendship and acclaim that Dr. "C. L." has so well merited.

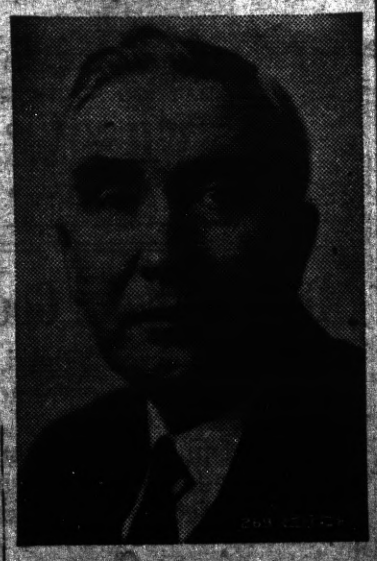
Since the year of 1900 when he came here as a young medico from Heidelberg University in Ohio his rise in his chosen profession has culminated in his recognition as one of California's topflight physicians and surgeons. Dr. C. L. Abbott is this week one of the hosts to the 7,000 doctors of the American Medical Association Convention being held in San Francisco.

Before the war, from 1906 to 1917, he was our Contra Costa County coroner, leaving the post which he had so capably filed only because of his desire to serve his country, which he did, both here and with the American Expeditionary forces in France.

Returning from the world war the neccesities of his large private practice precluded his again accepting the position as coroner; and only recently was he prevailed upon to accept appointment to the post.

In subsequent issues of this newspaper we will give in more detail Dr. Clark Lorenzo Abbott's enviable record.

Let it suffice at the outset to state that the RICHMOND PROGRESS, in consonance with the wishes of the people of this city and county, pledges our complete support to retain him in his position as county coroner.



DR. C. L. ABBOTT

Popular and capable coroner of Contra Costa County who filed for re-election today.

Honest • Capable • Courageous

The peace, safety, and moral welfare of a community depend primarily upon honest, efficient, sane and decent law enforcement, administered in a manner that commands the respect of the people for law and order, and, likewise, their respect for public officials responsible for the adminstration of the law.

Upon the shoulders of the Sheriff of this county rests the responsibility of preserving law and order, apprehending those who violate the law and taking leadership in crime prevention. To command the respect of his constituents and maintain an era of good government, the Sheriff himself, must have respect for such law and order and stand as a bulwark against intrusion of lawlessness elements bent upon disturbing the well-being of self-respecting, law-abiding people.

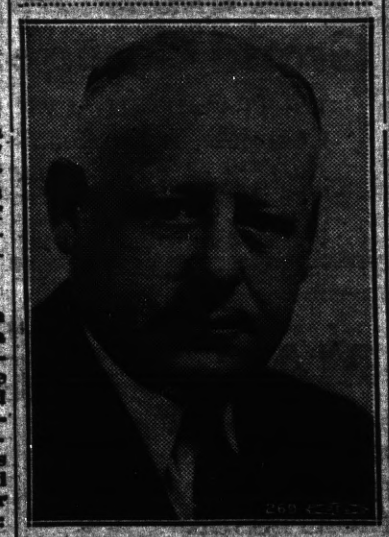
WORLD WAR HERO

Anthony Reggiardo is a man of unquestionable integrity. As a soldier with the A. E. F. he received the Distinguished Service Cross as a reward for valor and devotion to his country. Relative to the stressful circumstances where he earned this high honor, the following quoted from General Order No. 98, War Department, 1919, is presented:

"Near Waereghem, Belgium, October 31, 1918, Corporal Anthony Reggiardo, Company K, 363rd Infantry, 91st Division..... voluntarily went forth with his squad to combat a hostile machine gun nest which had held up the advance of our companies After the squad leader had been killed, he took command, and directing a heavy fire of Automatic Rifle and Rifle Grenades, he drove back advance enemy posts and cleared a path for the further progress of his company."

CHIEF ENFORCEMENT OFFICER

...For the past five years he has occupied the position of law enforcement officer in the service of the California State Board of Equalization, for the county of Contra Costa. His career in this capacity has won for him a high standing in the County and the State as an efficient law enforcement officer, unafraid to administer his duties in restraining those who would flout the state liquor laws.



ANTHONY REGGIARDO

When Mr. Reggiardo assumed the office of chief enforcement officer of the county he made his position clearly known to all, relative to liquor law enforcement.

Born in Martinez 43 years ago. Descendant of pioneer family. Lived in county all his life.

Undramatically, but with an understandable emphasis that traversed the county, he issued a mandate that the laws were to be observed, and that he would see to it that they were observed and adhered to by everyone engaged in the liquor industry. Known to be a man of his word, and one to back his word with action, his authority has been respected with the result that Contra Costa County is considered one of the counties in the State in which the liquor laws are strictly enforced.

ELECT REGGIARDO SHERIFF

Courageous, honest and able, Anthony Reggiardo, as sheriff, can be depended upon to conduct the office in a dignified and business-like fashion. There need be no fear of him shirking his duties or engaging in pursuits contrary to the community's concept of becoming conduct. His authority will be respected just as it has been as chief liquor law enforcement officer.

It is their confidence and faith in Anthony Reggiardo to serve honestly, intelligently and efficiently, that has rallied hundreds of leading citizens from all parts of the county and representatives of all walks of life to the campaign to elect him sheriff. They are aware of his worth as a leader in veteran affairs, civic and social activities and the public life of the county.

The REGGIARDO-FOR SHERIFF CAMPAIGN COMMITTEE is composed of supporters from the ranks of labor, business, industry, veterans, religious and civic organizations of the county. A VOTE FOR ANTHONY REGGIARDO WILL BE A VOTE FOR CLEAN, HONEST and EFFICIENT LAW ENFORCEMENT.

Anthony REGGIARDO for Sheriff

THANK YOU, TOO!

Editor, Point Richmond Progress,
Point Richmond,
Contra Costa County,
California.
Dear Editor:

This letter is to thank you for your interest and co-operation in the publicity which appeared in your paper regarding the Seventh Annual Contra Costa Day Pilgrimage to the Weimar Joint Sanatorium on June 19, 1938. You will never know how much you have contributed to this day's success.

Words cannot express how very much the 500 patients confined here enjoy these annual programs. Some idea as to their appreciation of such entertainment may be gleaned from the fact that other counties supporting this institution are arranging to present and "have their day" once a year for their bedridden friends.

We shall ever remember the kindly interest shown us by a former patient, Mr. Frank R. Taormina, who originated these pilgrimages over seven years ago. Incidentally, he is now City Clerk of Pittsburg, California.

Again thanking you, I remain,
Very truly yours,
H. U. BENSON, Editor,
The Fluoroscope.

IN RE. HORSEMAN'S ASSN

The Contra Costa Horseman's Association has proven itself one of the most active groups of its kind in Central California. It being a county-wide organization it is not bound by the activities in any one section and is working for the benefit of the entire county. More and more is the horse being recognized as a grand means of outdoor activity that is unsurpassed for health-giving recreation. Anyone owning a horse that is kept in Contra Costa county is entitled to membership.

Besides taking part in parades and rodeos throughout the county, the association holds monthly meetings at various places and occasionally dances are combined with these meetings. So far this year two dances have been held, one in Walnut Creek and one at the Martinez Gun Club. The latter was given gratis by Past President, Sheriff John A. Miller who is extremely active in the Horseman's Association. Organized rides are also a part of the activities, the last one being a trip to the top of Mt. Diablo along the various trails created for such purposes.

The next meeting of the Contra Costa Horseman's Association is scheduled for the new hall in El Sobrante on Friday, August 5. Anyone desiring information concerning the association can write to Secretary Cecil Coad of Martinez.

Gold Medal for Operator Who Gave Her Life So That Others Might Live

When a fire broke out in the Hotel Plaza in Jersey City, N. J., on December 29, 1937, Miss Helen Sullivan, the hotel's telephone operator, stayed at her switchboard to warn guests until she received burns from which she later died. A Theodore N. Vail Medal in gold, the two faces of which are shown above, and $500, have been presented to her mother. The National Committee of Vail Medal Awards has also announced special plaques and citations to four groups of telephone employees for notable acts of public service during the Ohio River flood of 1937.

FREEDOM AND OBEDIENCE

Teaching your child obedience is not contrary to the newer methods and ideas of child raising.

Many parents interpret the idea of freedom for the child to mean that a child should be permitted to do just as he pleases . . with the result that they have brought up their children in this manner only go find that the child in time has grown up a slave to his every whim . . selfish and thoughtless of others.

To give a child freedom does not mean we are to no longer require obedience. Freedom for the child should be permitted only in so far as it gives him opportunity to develop to the fullest his capacity and talents . . to free him from hampering restraints both from within and without.

Is it wise to continually direct a child and keep him dependent upon you? Is it not better to let the child carry out his ideas and learn to direct his own course . . with the aid of our unobtrusive counsel, guidance, and example?

But let us not center out attention so much on these things that we overlook the many thoughts and feelings of the child which may hinder him, if not corrected, quite as much as outside restraint. Fear, selfishness, jealousy, self-consciousness, and many other detructive traits can retard his growth. Freedom from outside direction must keep pace with his development, no more and no less, or life will become too complicated and difficult for him due to the very freedom he has been given.

To force a child to do something merely because another person requires it . . is not true obedience. True obedience is something that comes from within, because the individual himself makes the decision to do that thing. So the child as a very small child first learns to conform to certain requirements of his parents, but as he comes to understand that certain things are right to do and he therefore chooses to do them . . he learns to be obedient.

This kind of obedience is not harmful restraint but rather leads to freedom, for through it the child learns little by little how to distinguish between right and wrong . . and to follow the right. This in time promotes self-reliance and other qualities which make is possible for him to direct his course wisely . . and makes outside control unnecessary.

We must begin early to teach the simple rules of living. We must gain the confidence and respect of the child by our own behavior and example . . for we cannot instill principles, ideas or ideals of which we are totally lacking, and still expect the child to follow and value them. Children are responsive to suggestion and example . . and more often than not are the reflection of their surroundings and background . . a reflection of what you are and what you have given them . . in training, thought and consideration.

HARRY CHAPMAN MAKES COUNTY SURVEYOR

Harry D. Chapman, the present city engineer of the City of El Cerrito, and district engineer of the Stege Sanitary District, has announced his candidacy for the office of county surveyor of Contra Costa County, at the primary election to be held August 30, 1938.

Mr. Chapman has a background of 30 years' experience in general engineering, commencing in Iowa on railroad location and maintainance; and following with power house construction in Puyallup, Washington, and in St. Croix Falls, Wisconsin; dam construction in Bishop Creek, in Inyo county.

Helped Build Venice

He served as an assistant engineer in the city engineer's office of Sioux City, Iowa, and in Seattle, Washington. He first came to California as engineer in charge of the building of the City of Venice, with its canals, bridges, roads buildings and breakwater.

Came to Contra Costa county as city engineer of Richmond, in 1910 and held that position until 1924, resigning to accept the office of city engineer of Venice. pon the annexation of that city to Los Angeles, he was in private practice returning to Contra Costa county in 1930, and assuming the office he now holds.

In War Veteran

Chapman is a member of the Admiral Dewey Camp of the United Spanish War Veterans, and during the late war was the chairman of Civilian Relief for the Red Cross, which organization, by the way was organized in Richmond by Mrs. Chapman. He is a member of McKinley Lodge Masons, Past High Priest of Richmond Chapter of the Royal Arch Masons, Past President of the Richmond Rotary club and a member of the Richmond Lodge of Elks. Politically he is a Democrat.

He says that in all his engineering experience he has never been fired, never asked to resign and has been re-employed by former employers. He says that his record will bear the strictest examination and that it has always been efficient, economical and clean, and that his experience in handling men, offices and equipment and in meeting the public make him pre-eminently fitted to fill the office he seeks.

Mr. Chapman has been officially endorsed by the Building Trades Council and the American Federation of Labor of Contra Costa County.

'Talking Dog' Uses Big Words—for a Dog

Acme News Picture

Pat, a three year old Boston bull terrier owned by Frank Elliott of Chicago, is reported to be able to carry on telephone conversations with an understandable vocabulary of about 14 words, including "yes," "no," "out," "eat," and "I want my mama." His owner says that Pat first began to talk when eight months old. A veterinary attributes Pat's conversational ability to an enlarged larynx.
